“ I can wholeheartedly recommend Estate First Lawyers. Kylie was very professional and friendly and explained any questions or concerns I had. Shari was very efficient and courteous and it was a pleasure dealing with them.

“ We made our appointment with Estate First Lawyers and began a journey of learning. Right from the start, our lawyer, Kylie, was friendly, confident, and most professional, putting us at ease and really personalizing what she was explaining to our own situation. Every situation is unique and Kylie made us feel unique.

Kylie Costigan joined Estate First Lawyers in 2010 as a senior associate.

Kylie is one of only forty-four Queensland Law Society Accredited Specialists in Succession law and holds a Bachelor of Laws with Honours from the University of Queensland and a Graduate Diploma in Practical Legal Education and Training from the University of Queensland.

Kylie is a member of the Society of Trusts and Estate Practitioners and QLD Law Society.

Kylie has almost exclusively practiced in succession law from the outset of her legal career, predominantly focusing on the area of estate planning as well as estate administration.

Kylie aims to make this area of law accessible to all her clients, clearing any misunderstandings to ensure that clients' affairs are structured in the best way to ensure a smooth transition of wealth from her clients to their intended beneficiaries, with the right Will and the right structures supported by the right ancillary documentation. She enjoys a challenge and likes to find suitable and sometimes innovative solutions to the complex problems which our modern society causes in estate planning, especially for blended families, disabled and vulnerable beneficiaries and parents of young children.

Kylie also has a particular interest in taking the legal and technical aspects of an estate administration out of clients' hands, so they can focus on the important process of grief, while she 'sorts everything out'.

Kylie regularly presents on estate and succession-related topics to lawyers, financial advisers and accountants, including the QLD Law Society Succession Conference, the QLD Law Society Symposium Conference and LexisNexis Professional Development.
