Sam wears a number of hats, having started with the firm from its inception in 2009. He has almost completed his Bachelor of Commerce at The University of Queensland and so carries out a number of office management duties including accounts. In addition, he has completed five years of his Bachelor of Laws degree also at the University of Queensland and is currently achieving first class honours in his grades. Sam also works as a paralegal in the estate planning and estate administration areas. Sam has a sharp mind, but an empathetic approach and so is well suited to this area of law.

Sam enjoys the law and has a keen interest in succession law
